The Northeastern Pennsylvania Environmental Partners are now accepting nominations for the 2018 Northeast Annual Environmental Partnership Awards

2018 Thomas P. Shelburne Environmental Leadership Award
2018 Emerging Environmental Leader Award

Now in its 28th year, the regionally acclaimed Environmental Partnership Awards program pays tribute to those organizations and individuals in Northeastern Pennsylvania that have achieved environmental protection or conservation through partnering with others.

By presenting these awards, the Environmental Partners (Northeastern Pennsylvania Alliance, Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection, Pennsylvania Environmental Council, PPL Corporation, Procter & Gamble Paper Products Company, and Wilkes University) hope to encourage others in the community to emulate the methods and achievements of the honorees.

Recipients of the 2018 Awards will be honored at the 28th Annual Evening for Northeastern Pennsylvania's Environment on October 25, 2018 at the Woodlands Inn & Resort.

This event is one of the most anticipated events on regional calendars. At the 2017 Dinner, more than 300 people came together to salute the accomplishments of the awardees.

The Partners are accepting nominations for this year's awards. Read on to learn more about the awards, including how to submit a nomination available on our website at www.pecpa.org.

The Awards

A Brief History

The annual Environmental Partnership Awards were established in 1991, as an Earth Day project of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Environmental Partners. In the time since, they have become a highly coveted honor. Their intent now, as it was then, is to salute those who bring diverse groups and individuals together to solve problems of common interest and to recognize those who use partnering as their primary method to achieve environmental progress.

In 1995, the Partners established the Thomas P. Shelburne Environmental Leadership Award and presented it to Tom, posthumously. Mr. Shelburne was a highly respected community leader, who devoted himself, over four decades, to the protection and improvement of Pennsylvania's environment. Each year, this award honors an individual who, like Tom, has devoted a large part of his/her life to environmental protection, and who, over the long term, has proven to be an inspiring leader and a champion of partnering.

In 2012, the Partners established the Emerging Environmental Leader Award. This award honors a young adult who demonstrates environmental leadership, creativity, and dedication as well as inspires others to adopt similar actions to protect the environment.

The annual Evening for Northeastern Pennsylvania's Environment has grown from a small gathering on the Wilkes University Commons, to an event known statewide. Each year, the Evening brings together hundreds of people who share a strong and personal interest in the environment.

The 2018 Awards

Who is eligible?

The Partnership Awards are open to any organization, individual, company, or project that has had a positive impact on the environment in Northeastern Pennsylvania. Nominees for the awards must be located within the following counties: Bradford, Carbon, Columbia, Lackawanna, Lehigh, Luzerne, Monroe, Montour, Northampton, Northumberland, Pike, Schuylkill, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Wayne, and Wyoming.

We have honored individuals, groups, and projects involved in agriculture, forestry, business, industry, education, science, environmental awareness, community service, and government, among others.

Who may nominate?

Individuals, groups, or organizations may nominate themselves...or a third party can make nominations.

How are honorees selected?

This year's honorees will be selected by a distinguished panel of judges. The panel always includes representatives from the Partners, as well as other individuals with regional environmental interests, including past honorees.

In evaluating nominations, the judges consider the following:

- Number, quality, and effectiveness of partnerships formed to achieve goals;
- Overall quality of the application;
- Impact on the environment and quality of life;
- Extent to which nominee/project is above and beyond usual work expectations; and
- Extent to which activity serves as a model of partnering for others.

For the Shelburne Award, in addition to the eligibility guidelines listed above, the judges are seeking to honor an individual who has demonstrated inspiring leadership and partnering for greater than 20 years.

For the Emerging Environmental Leader Award, in addition to the eligibility guidelines listed above, the candidate must be between the ages of 14 and 22 and have demonstrated environmental leadership, creativity, and dedication to protecting and enhancing the environment.

To submit a nomination:

1. Complete the 2018 Awards Cover Sheet.
2. Prepare a nomination per the instructions using the Nomination Checklist.
